

Who we are

Established in 2009, Gilvear Planning provides town planning, approvals management and strategic development advice to clients large and small; from State government to councils to private family development companies, agribusiness and quarry operators. Our team is versatile, both in terms of project experience, geographic locations, and experience in providing advice across a broad range of sectors.

Our team is dedicated to achieving outcomes for our clients. We understand the need to collaborate a range of stakeholders, including members of other technical disciplines including engineers, architects, surveyors and environmental scientists, as well as local, state and federal government representatives, to deliver results.

Our team is willing and more than capable of providing assistance on projects or sites throughout Australia and internationally, and we relish the opportunity to engage with clients, community members and regulatory authority representatives in a variety of locations.
